The Industrial League of America has issued an address on the condition of American industries. It makes a very flattering showing of increased manufacture in iron, steel, silk, pottery and worsted. The League propose to hold meetings in the principal towns and cities and also in the thickly populated farming districts and publicly discuss before the people the issues between American industries and British interests; to organize an auxiliary league in each Congressional district as soon as practicable; to vote for no candidate for Congress who will not before election pledge himself, if elected, to do all in his power, and by word and act to protect American industries.

A telegraph line around the world has been talked of for years, and is perfectly feasible. The late William M. Swaim, of the Philadelphia Ledger, entertained the idea a quarter of a century ago, and offered to be one of fifty stockholders to furnish ample capital to carry out that magnificent project. From Montreal now comes a report that the Dominion Telegraph Signal Service contemplate building a telegraphic chain around the world, by a line from the western British American possessions across to Asia. If this plan is carried out the line will go from Vancouver's Island to the Aleutian group, and from thence to Russia or Japan. It is a big project, but we think it will be some time before it is carried out, though perfectly feasible.

The latest figures of the South Carolina census, show that her population for fifty years, from 1820 to 1870, increased 202,859, and for five years, from 1870 to 1875, increased 218,000. It is now charged that her population at the last date was packed, with the design to increase her political power, and that it has been done again.

A WORTHY SPEECH.

General Garfield's regiment held a reunion Wednesday at Ashland, Ohio, and after speeches by Gen. Garfield and others a resolution was adopted proudly commending the first Colonel of the Forty-second Ohio as a man and soldier who deserved the votes of all men. Gen. Garfield said:

This is a family gathering—a military family—for in war a regiment in the army is what a family is to a home-civilized community. [Here a portion of the platform fell.] A military reunion without some excitement and some accident would be altogether too monotonous and tame, and in this good-natured audience we can have a good many accidents like that and keep quiet and be happy. I said this is a family reunion, an assembly of the old Forty-second military family, and it is well for us to meet here. Nineteen years ago I met a crowd of earnest citizens in that court house above stairs. Your bell was rung in the town. Your people came out. The teacher of your school was among them. The boys of your school were there, and after we had talked together a little while about our country, its imperiled flag, the teacher of the school offered himself to his country and twenty of his boys with him. They never came back into that school house again; but in the dark days of November, 1861, they and enough Ashland county boys to make 100 went down with me to Columbus to join another 100 that had gone before them from Ashland county, and those 200 of your children stood in the center of our military family and bore these old banners that you see tattered before you to-day. One of these was given to our family by the ladies of Ashland and Company C, from Ashland, carried it. Well, it was riddled by bullets and torn by underbrush, and flapped by the winds of the rebellion. It came back, tattered as you see, but with never a stain on its folds and never a touch of dishonor upon it anywhere; and the other of these banners was given us by the special friends, of Company A, in my old town of Hiram—the student company from the heart of the Western Reserve—and it also shared, like its fellows, the same fate and came home covered with the glory of the conflict. We were a family, I say again, and we did not let partisan parties disturb us then, and we will not let partisanship enter our circle here to-day. We did not quarrel. We agreed to be brethren for the Union under the flag to fight for the Union, whatever the color of the skin; whatever their previous politics; whatever their religion. In that spirit we went out. In that spirit we returned. There never was a serious quarrel inside the regiment. There never was a serious disagreement between its officers. The worst thing I have heard said against it is that all its three field officers came home alive, and they are all here on this stand to-day. It was, perhaps, a little against us that no one of us had the honor to get killed or be seriously crippled; but we hold that it was not altogether our fault, and we trust that some day or other you will have forgiven us, if you have not to day for being alive and all here together. I want to say another thing about the soldiers' work. I know of nothing in all the circle of human duty that so unites as to do the common suffering, and struggles, and danger that war brings on a regiment. You can not know a man so thoroughly and so soon as by the tremendous tests to which the war subjects him. These men knew each other by sight long before they knew each other by heart. But before they got back home they knew each other, as you sometimes say you know a son, "by heart," for they have been tested by fire; they have been tested by starvation; they have been tested by the grim presence of death, and each knew that those who remained were Union men—knew that in all the hard, close chances of life they had the stuff in them that enabled them to stand up to the extremest peril, and stand up ready to die. These men went out without one single touch of revenge in their hearts. They went out to maintain this Union and make it immortal, and to make it possible that the people of Ashland should make the monogram of United States—as you see it there—a wreath of Union inside of a very large N—a capital N, that stands for Nation, a Nation so large that it includes "U. S. A.," all the people of the Republic, and the Republic and will include it forevermore. That is what we meant then and is what we mean now. And now, fellow citizens and soldiers of the Forty-second Regiment, I greet you to-day with great satisfaction and bid you a cordial good-bye.

A remarkable fish was last week caught on Santa Catalina Island. According to the Los Angeles Herald, it was thirty inches long, the body of a bright silver color, the tail and head blood red. Says the Vallejo Chronicle: On the high hill overlooking the east of Cordelia, is one of the places whence some of San Francisco's streets are supplied with paving rock. Altogether, some 200,000 blocks have been shipped.

The preparations for moving the crops of the season have begun earlier and at a somewhat brisker pace than they did last year. These preparations consist in importations of gold from Europe and in the sending of money from New York to the West to be employed in the purchase of grain. Our two leading export crops, wheat and cotton, are heavier than they have ever been before, and although the foreign demand for breadstuffs will not be so large as it was in 1879 it will still be sufficient to make an active market. Owing to injuries by late rains in several counties the English wheat crop does not fulfil the expectation of the early Summer months, and even in the best years England imports a large part of its supplies of food. Stocks of grain have run low during the year of scarcity, and the necessity of replenishing them causes business to set in somewhat earlier than usual. The wheat harvest is moderate in France, and in many districts of Germany there has been a heavy destruction of crops by floods. Russia will furnish less than her usual quota for exportation, and the United States will have to make up the greater part of the deficiency.

The prices of grain and cotton are expected to be low, the American crops of both being too abundant to find a market at high rates. But the foreign demand will be large at moderate rates and the transactions of the year will be extensive. The business is likely to be more evenly distributed through the year than it was after the last harvest, since there is less temptation to create "corners" by daring speculative movements. The bad luck of the stupendous Chicago corner in wheat last Winter would not encourage a repetition of the experiment even if the general grain supply of the world were no greater than it was in 1879. But the abundance in the United States is so marvellous, and the foreign deficiency so much less than it was last year, that heavy speculative movements are not to be expected. This is favorable to an easy money market throughout the year. Large amounts of cash will not again be looked up in attempts to forestall the market. Purchases will be made only as they are wanted for immediate exportation. The advances made by the banks will not be long out of their hands, but will be returned to them at short intervals to be again loaned out for moving successful installments of the crops, which is a much better state of things than when large amounts of capital are locked up for months in creating corners and holding commodities for a rise. There is an excellent prospect, therefore, that the business of the year will be healthy as well as large.

BILL ENGLISH ON FREE NEGROES.—The truth is, the free negro, as a general thing, is unfit to govern himself, and under the most favorable circumstances, in free States, it is said he has but three rounds in the ladder of his ambition—to be a boss barber, have a banjo, and marry a white wife. The inferior being we find him, the Almighty, for some wise purpose—"He doeth all things well"—seems to have designed him. A negro He made him, and it is not in the power of all the Abolitionists and Republicans on earth to make him anything else.—From a Speech in 1860.

These preparations consist in importations of gold from Europe and in the sending of money from New York to the West to be employed in the purchase of grain. Our two leading export crops, wheat and cotton, are heavier than they have ever been before, and although the foreign demand for breadstuffs will not be so large as it was in 1879 it will still be sufficient to make an active market. Owing to injuries by late rains in several counties the English wheat crop does not fulfil the expectation of the early Summer months, and even in the best years England imports a large part of its supplies of food. Stocks of grain have run low during the year of scarcity, and the necessity of replenishing them causes business to set in somewhat earlier than usual. The wheat harvest is moderate in France, and in many districts of Germany there has been a heavy destruction of crops by floods. Russia will furnish less than her usual quota for exportation, and the United States will have to make up the greater part of the deficiency.

The prices of grain and cotton are expected to be low, the American crops of both being too abundant to find a market at high rates. But the foreign demand will be large at moderate rates and the transactions of the year will be extensive. The business is likely to be more evenly distributed through the year than it was after the last harvest, since there is less temptation to create "corners" by daring speculative movements. The bad luck of the stupendous Chicago corner in wheat last Winter would not encourage a repetition of the experiment even if the general grain supply of the world were no greater than it was in 1879. But the abundance in the United States is so marvellous, and the foreign deficiency so much less than it was last year, that heavy speculative movements are not to be expected. This is favorable to an easy money market throughout the year. Large amounts of cash will not again be looked up in attempts to forestall the market. Purchases will be made only as they are wanted for immediate exportation. The advances made by the banks will not be long out of their hands, but will be returned to them at short intervals to be again loaned out for moving successful installments of the crops, which is a much better state of things than when large amounts of capital are locked up for months in creating corners and holding commodities for a rise. There is an excellent prospect, therefore, that the business of the year will be healthy as well as large.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma.

AND CONSUMPTION.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one, but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever required so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, and has won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sick-room, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

MISCELLANEOUS. REPUBLICAN STATE TICKET. PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS: R. H. TAYLOR, - - - Storey O. H. GREY, - - - White Pine A. E. MORTON, - - - Esmeralda

FOR JUDGE OF THE SUPREME COURT: WILLIAM H. BEATTY.

FOR CONGRESS: ROLLIN M. DAGGETT.

Resolutions Adopted by the Republican State Convention:

Resolved, That the platform of principles adopted by the National Republican Convention at Chicago in June deserves and receives the approval and hearty endorsement of all Republicans of Nevada.

Resolved, That the horde of Chinese that are coming in upon our shores to eat our substance are destroying our country, impoverishing our mines, miners and laborers, debauching our youth and making both men and women lower in the scale of humanity. This evil must and shall be stopped, and to this end we pledge the entire strength of the Republican party. In the language of our great leader, we regard the immigration of Asiatics to the United States as little less than a servile invasion. Should the Commissioners now in negotiation with the Chinese Government fail to secure by the first of next January such a modification of the Burlingame Treaty as will practically put an end to the influx of Chinese to this country, we demand that the treaty then be promptly annulled, and such laws enacted as will not only prevent forever the Asiatic scourge now menacing the well being of the Republic.

Resolved, That we most heartily indorse the general financial policy of the Republican party, which, in spite of every opposition on the part of the Democrats, has led to the resumption of specie payments, the raising of our National credit to a height never before known, and the restoration of National prosperity. But we also demand the complete restoration of silver coin to its former position by the side of gold, for the purpose of attaining that end we hold it to be the duty of the General Government, through the authorization of Congress, to coin into standard dollars or other legal tender currency, at the cost of coinage and for the benefit of the producer, the entire product of the country, and relieve the mining industry from the loss attending the shipment to, and sale of silver bullion in foreign markets. As mining for the precious metals is the leading industry of Nevada, we are indelibly opposed to any legislation that would restrict the mining and now before the House of Representatives, prohibiting the following of secure veins or deposits beyond vertical lines of surface boundaries, and we urge our representatives in both Houses of Congress to continue their efforts for its defeat. Such a restriction would work disaster to the labors of the prospector and seriously retard the development of the mineral riches of the West, and we cordially endorse the action of our Representative, the Hon. R. M. Daggett, in this behalf.

Resolved, That the Republican party claims it to be the right and duty of the State and Territorial Legislatures to regulate and restrict the charges of railroads exclusively within their respective jurisdictions, and that no less the constitutional right than positive duty of Congress to regulate tariffs and restrict the charges of interstate railroads.

Resolved, That while we congratulate the country on the successful resumption of specie payments and the splendid financial condition of the Republic, we are in favor of restricting the issuance of National and State legal tender notes to denominations of not less than five dollars, thus creating an increased home demand as a circulating medium for the precious metals which our mines are annually yielding.

Resolved, That General James A. Garfield and Chester A. Arthur, by their services to the country, by their devotion to principle and by their unspotted reputations, are entitled to less the respect of united and earnest support of all the loyal people of the United States for President and Vice President. We rejoice in their nomination and pledge to them the Electoral vote of Nevada at the ensuing election by an overwhelming majority.

MISCELLANEOUS. NATIONAL REPUBLICAN PLATFORM. THE FOLLOWING IS THE PLATFORM of the National Republican Party adopted by the Chicago Convention:

Republican rule has restored upon a solid basis payment in coin for all the national obligations, and has given us a currency absolutely good and legal, and equal in value to our extended country. It has lifted the credit of the nation from the point where six per cent. bonds sold at 85, to that where four per cent. bonds are eagerly sought at a premium. Under its administration railways have increased from 20,000 miles in 1870 to more than 40,000 in 1879. Our foreign trade has increased from $700,000,000 to $1,150,000,000 in the same time, and our exports, which were $300,000,000 less than our imports in 1879, without resorting to loans, it has since the war closed, defrayed the entire expenses of Government, bettered the accruing interest on the public debt, and disbursed annually more than $30,000,000 for soldiers' pensions. It has paid $500,000,000 of the public debt, and by refunding the balance at lower rates has reduced the interest charge from nearly $151,000,000 to less than $80,000,000. All the industries of the country have revived; labor is in demand; wages have increased, and throughout the entire country there is evidence of a coming prosperity greater than we have ever enjoyed. It is this record the Republican party sets for the continued confidence and support of the people, and this Convention submits for their approval the following statements of the principle and purpose which will continue to guide and inspire its efforts:

THE REPUBLICAN POLICY:

First.—We affirm that the work of the last twenty-one years has been such as to commend itself to the favor of the nation, and that the fruits of the costly victories which we have achieved through immense difficulties should be preserved. That the peace regarded should be cherished. That the discovered Union, now happily restored, should be perpetuated, and that the liberties secured to this generation should be transmitted undiminished to future generations. That the order established and the credit acquired should never be imperiled. That the pensions promised should be paid. That the debt so much reduced should be extinguished by the full payment of every dollar thereof. That the reviving industries should be further promoted, and that the commerce already so great should be steadily encouraged.

A NATION, NOT A CONFEDERACY.

Second.—The Constitution of the United States is the supreme law, and not a mere contract. Out of the confederated States it made a sovereign nation. Some powers are denied to the nation, while others are retained by the States; but the boundary between the powers delegated and those reserved to be determined by National and not by State tribunals.

POPULAR EDUCATION.

Third.—The work of popular education is one left to the care of the several States, but it is the duty of the National Government to aid that work to the extent of its constitutional ability. The intelligence of the nation is but the aggregate of the intelligence in the several States, and the destiny of the nation must be guided, not by the genius of any one State, but by the average genius of all.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT.

Fourth.—The Constitution wisely forbids Congress to make any law respecting an establishment of religion, but it is idle to hope that the nation can be protected against the influence of sectarianism, when each State is left to its particular domination. We therefore recommend that the Constitution be so amended as to lay some prohibitions upon the legislature of each State, and to forbid the appropriation of the public funds to the support of sectarian schools.

DUTIES OF THE DAY.

Fifth.—We reaffirm the belief avowed in 1876, that the duties levied for the purpose of revenues should so discriminate as to favor American labor. That no further grant of the public domain should be made to any railroad or other enterprise that slavery having perished in the States, its twin barbarity, polygamy, must die in the Territories. That everywhere the protection accorded to a citizen of American birth must be secured to citizens by American adoption. That the United States should secure and improve our watercourses and harbors, but we insist that further subsidies to private persons or corporations must cease. That the obligations to the men who preserved its integrity in the day of battle are undischarged by us, and since the day of battle we have neglected their welfare. Their grateful honor to and shall forever be the grateful privilege and the sacred duty of the American people.

THE CHINESE PLANK.

Sixth.—Since the authority to regulate immigration and naturalization is vested in Congress, and foreign nations seek to have the Congress of the United States and its treaty making powers, that the Republican party, regarding the unrestricted immigration of Chinese as an evil of great magnitude, invokes the exercise of the power to restrain and limit immigration by the enactment of such just, humane and reasonable provisions as will produce that result.

COMMEMORATION OF HAYES.

Seventh.—That the purity and patriotism which characterized the earlier career of Rutherford B. Hayes in peace and war, and which guided the thought of his immediate predecessor to him for a Presidential candidate, have continued to inspire his career, and that the nation should honor him as a citizen, and that the history will record to his administration the honors which are due to an efficient, just and courageous fulfillment of the public business, and will honor his interposition between the people and proposed partisan laws.

ABANDONMENT OF THE DEMOCRACY.

Eighth.—We charge upon the Democratic party the habitual sacrifice of patriotism and justice to avarice and the lust for power, and that the party, that to obtain possession of the National and State governments, and the control of place and position, have obstructed all the efforts to preserve the purity and conserve the freedom of suffrage; have denied fraudulent certificates and returned to office men who were lawfully elected members of Congress, to secure at all hazards the vote of the majority of the States in the House of Representatives; have endeavored to occupy by force and fraud places of trust given to others by the people of Maine, and that the Democratic party, by its unscrupulous and treacherous methods, vicious in principle and tyrannical in practice, attacked partisan legislation to appropriation bills; have trampled the rights of individuals, and vindicated the principles and sought the favor of rebellion against the Government; have endeavored to obliterate the sacred memories of the war, and to overcome its inevitable good results—freedom and individual equality. We affirm it to be the duty and purpose of the Republican party to use all the legitimate means within its power to secure the best harmony which may be practicable, and we submit to the practical, sensible people of the United States to say whether it would not be dangerous to the best interest of our country at this time to surrender the administration of the National Government to a party which seeks to overthrow the existing policy under which we are so prosperous, and thus bring destruction and confusion where there is now order, confidence and hope.

NINTH.—The equal, steady, and complete enforcement of the laws, and the protection of all our citizens in the enjoyment of their rights and immunities guaranteed by the Constitution, are the first duties of the nation.

Tenth.—The dangers of a "Solid South" can only be averted by a faithful performance of every promise which the nation has made to the citizen. The execution of the laws, and the maintenance of all those who violate them, are the only safe methods by which an enduring peace can be secured and genuine prosperity established throughout the South. Whatever promises the nation makes the nation must perform. The nation cannot afford to be divided by the peaceful agencies of the ballot, and all honest opinions must there find free expression. To this end the honest voter must be protected against terrorism, violence or fraud.

Eleventh.—We affirm it to be the duty and purpose of the Republican party to use all legitimate means to restore all the States of this Union to the most perfect harmony which may be possible, and we submit to the practical, sensible people of these United States to say whether there is not danger to the duty and the purpose of the Republican party to use all legitimate means to restore all the States of this Union to the most perfect harmony which may be possible, and we submit to the practical, sensible people of these United States to say whether there is not danger to the duty and the purpose of the Republican party to use all legitimate means to restore all the States of this Union to the most perfect harmony which may be possible, and we submit to the practical, sensible people of these United States to say whether there is not danger to the duty and the purpose of the Republican party to use all legitimate means to restore all the States of this Union to the most perfect
